MET runner-up in BASF supplier competition

BRH ViaBus, the MET subsidiary, was excited to be included in the short-list of BASF's top German suppliers for 2018. Managing Director, Heiko Schütte, said: "It's a great honour to be recognised as providing excellent service to one of the world's best companies. We provide transport for the 33,000 BASF employees so they can get around the 10km² Ludwigshafen site safely, quickly and efficiently."

World-wide, BASF procures more than €30 billion worth of products and services every year, from raw materials, technical goods and services, right through to logistics services. Competitive supplier collaboration and best practice means added-value for BASF and its customers.

MET's BRH ViaBus subsidiary won the nine year contract with BASF in 2015, running shuttle services up to every five minutes at the global headquarters and research centre. BASF is the largest employer in the Rhine-Neckar metropolitan region.
